MORE GOING TO SUNDAY SCHOOLS IN KENTUCKY

Reports to State Conference of Sunday Schools Are Quite Encouraging — Exports Address Meeting.

Newport, Ky., Oct. 6. — The Kentucky Sunday School Association's annual convention is being held at Salem M. E. church with 700 delegates present.

Sunday schools throughout Kentucky have had a good increase in membership during the past year and larger numbers of persons than ever before have been added to the membership of the churches, according to the annual report of Rev. George A. Joplin, Louisville, general secretary of the Kentucky state Sunday school association.

During the year, he reported, more than 50,000 persons attended about one thousand Sunday school rallies held throughout the state. One hundred and thirty-four conventions were held and attended by members of the staff of the association at which 1,081 Sunday schools were represented and at which there was a total attendance of 18,140. Nearly five thousand persons had some part in the programs of the various rallies and conventions.

Increased activity of county superintendents and organizations of county Young People's Division Committees, were two of the big forward steps accomplished by the Young People's Division of the Kentucky Sunday School Association, according to the annual report of Miss Mary Virginia Howard, superintendent. A group of people who thoroughly believe in and are promoting the association's program of Young People's Work, is gradually developing, she said.

Need of annual registration of Young People's classes was stressed by Miss Howard. Only a portion are listed, she said, although since 1910 a total of 866 classes have been reported. Division of Sunday schools into Young People's departments was one of the developments of the year, she said.

The child in the Sunday school must be taken "into the land of 'Once Upon a Time'" and taught through stories having a thrill of adventure and expectation. Mrs. A. T. Robinson told the Children's Division Section of the Kentucky Sunday School Convention at the opening session. Mrs. Robinson's subject was "The Listening Ear."

"The story is the outstanding feature of the Sunday school to the small child," she said. "To tell the story well is to impress the lessons it contains. Therefore it must be adapted to the children, in approach, in language and in speed of movement."

"For the beginners the story must be a picture, with the attributes of a picture in color, composition, perspective, atmosphere — perhaps the greatest of these is atmosphere. It also must be a journey, a trip to the land of 'Once Upon a Time' with a thrill of adventure and expectation as we start. It must be told so as to draw the child nearer to God. When we have a sermon we ask three things of the preacher—to be drawn nearer to God, to have our stock or religious knowledge increased and to be helped to do our duty. All this story must do for the beginner."

LEAF PRICE AT WINSTON-SALEM TAKES BIG JUMP

Considerable Increase Noted in North Carolina Tobacco Prices — Price Reaches $29.81.

Winston-Salem, N. C., Oct. 6. — Leaf tobacco reached the high water mark of the present season Monday when 472,080 pounds were sold at the local warehouses for an average price of $29.81 per hundred pounds, eclipsing all previous records of the 1921-22 season by almost five cents per pound. The amount of cash paid out to the farmers Tuesday totaled $140,692.95.

The decided increase in the average price came as a happy surprise to the many farmers who sold tobacco here Monday. The better grades brought decidedly better prices than they did on the opening day, while the common grades showed little, if any, increase in price. However, the big increase can not all be attributed to an increase in price. The quality of the tobacco sold Monday was much better than on any previous day.

Monday's Sales—Total pounds, 472,080; average price, $29.81; total cash, $140,692.95.

Friday's Sales—Total pounds, 343,461; average price, $24.21; total cash, $83,222.96.

Season's Figures—Total pounds, 2,751,747; total cash, $639,235.04.

Big Circus to Hold Forth at Bull Park Grounds on Friday — Grand Street Parade Is Promised.

The advent of the Rhoda Royal's greatest shows, on the bull park grounds Friday will, it is said mark an epoch in the matter of tented amusements in Mayville. That this show will present the biggest and finest street pageant Mayville has yet witnessed, is asserted without qualification. That the show company numbers more show performers and of a better order of merit than have heretofore been gathered together under any one management, is also stated positively. Thousands of dollars cash were expended last winter in accumulating new features to add to the glories of the "Rhoda Royal Greatest Shows."

The menagerie is said to be very complete one, containing the finest collection of rare wild beasts ever on the coast. The newspapers all along the line speak highly of this entertainment, and the "small boy," as well as the older folks who will be delighted again with the feats of the many male and female performers, the handsome horses, the wonderful exhibition of wild beasts in the circular steel cage, the marvelous aerial acts, and the exciting races on the hippodrome track. Exchanges are all unanimous in praising the courtesy of Royal's employees while handling the immense crowds and finding seats for late comers.

The late of "sure thing" men and fakers also adds materially to the enjoyment of the spectator.

The reputation of Rhoda Royal for faithfully carrying out all his advance promises and for dealing fairly with the public in all things, affords positive assurance that his show will eclipse anything of a like nature seen here before.

TOBACCO CENSUS FIGURES.

The Bureau of the Census has published some interesting figures recently on tobacco culture in the United States. A census of the quantity of tobacco grown has been taken every decade since 1839.

This crop is grown in many of the states, but Kentucky, North Carolina and Virginia have always had the principal yields and rank in the order named.

In 1839 Kentucky raised fifty-three thousand pounds using round numbers; North Carolina sixteen thousand pounds; and Virginia seventy-five thousand. In 1919, which was the banner year, so far as quantity of production is concerned, Kentucky raised 498 million pounds; North Carolina 325 million; and Virginia 126 million.

Virginia shows her highest yield per acre in 1911, and both Kentucky and North Carolina in 1918; Virginia's record being 800 pounds, that of Kentucky 960, and that of North Carolina 705.

In 1920 Kentucky, with a planting of 550,000 acres, produced 467,500,000 pounds, leading all states. North Carolina followed, with 582,000 acres and 384,120,000 pounds. Virginia was third, with 243,600 acres and 77,390,000 pounds.

Prior to the Civil War the Old Dominion had first rank as a producer of tobacco, but from 1869 Kentucky has stood at the top.

The estimated average yield per acre for the whole United States in 1920 was 796 pounds, but there is the greatest variation in the average yield per acre in the different states, ranging all the way from 1,500 pounds in Pennsylvania, to 600 pounds in Georgia.

The largest general average for any state during the period 1910-1920 is credited to Connecticut and is 1,572 pounds per acre. The quantity of fertilizer used, the weather conditions and the intensive cultivation given the crops of high priced cigar tobacco raised in that state account for the greatest yield.

Bayette county, which led all other counties in the country in 1919 in the marketing of tobacco, with 52,745,165 pounds, in 1918 marketed 16,672,625 pounds.

South Carolina, the figures show, is forging rapidly to the front as a tobacco producing state, showing fifteen million pounds in 1910, 37 million in 1915, 80 million in 1919, and 67 million in 1920.

While the United States leads all other countries in the production and manufacture of tobacco, many millions of pounds are imported every year from Turkey, Greece, Bulgaria, the Netherlands, Cuba, Dominican Republic, China, the Philippines and Porto Rico, both in the leaf and manufactured forms.

A WOMAN PROFESSOR.

Among the former newspaper women of Kentucky there is one who has become a college professor. Miss Marguerite McLaughlin, of Lexington, was among the members of the faculty of the College of Journalism of the University whose good work as an instructor was recognized by the University administration by a promotion at the close of this school year.

One of her students said to the editor of this paper a few weeks ago that Miss McLaughlin had the love and confidence of every member of her classes. "We go to her for advice about many things," this student said. "She is trustworthy and we tell her our troubles and follow her advice. Many a time she tells us of things we may be doing that are not good for us, but always in such a diplomatic way as to leave no hurt and always in such manner as to impress the fact that we are her chief thought and interest."

Incidentally, there is no reason why any Kentuckian should send his son or daughter out of Kentucky to study journalism. While it is a new field in university study, Kentucky has one of the best teachers of journalism as the head of its college of any of the states of the Union. Enoch Graham knows the game from the ground. Like Miss McLaughlin, he graduated from the practical school of the newspaper before he went into the game as a university professor. The Interior Journal knows them both and hopes the University continues to recognize the value of their services to the school, to the state and to the profession they honor.—Stanford Interior Journal.

FIRST VOTE FOR HARDING.

Some days ago an ardent supporter of President Harding celebrated her 100th birthday in the town of Newfields, New Hampshire. She is Mrs. James Pike, the daughter and the widow of former New Hampshire Congressmen. Her father, Rev. John Brohead, represented his state at Washington in the 21st and 22nd Congresses, 1829-1833, and her husband represented the American party in the lower House in the 34th and 35th Congresses. He later served as colonel of the Sixteenth New Hampshire regiment in the Civil War. The Republican party was not in existence in those early Congresses, but the American party was afterwards merged into it, and there is no doubt that both Mr. Brohead and Mr. Pike were inclined with the ideas that we now recognize as Republicanism. Certain it is that Mrs. Pike has been a confirmed Republican ever since the party was organized, and it is one of her chief delights that she was able to live long enough to cast her first national vote for President Harding.

PROHIBIT LEGAL MANUFACTURE BUT NOT CONSUMPTION.

John F. Kramer, former Federal prohibition director, in addressing a Law Enforcement League at Hamilton, Ohio, Thursday said: "Leave permitting manufacture and sale of light wines and beer never will be passed in the United States, but it will never be impossible for a man to get a drink of liquor."

WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington, D. C. — The American Manufacturer's Export Association declares that an export boom is under way, and condemns the "funeral predictions" of "writers and speakers who know not whereof they speak" and who are seeking to create pessimism regarding our sales abroad. "It is admitted," declares the association, "that the total of exports during the last year or so has shrunk noticeably. But the fact is not generally known that the amount of goods exported in the last year compares favorably with any year during the war, and shows a marked increase over the total of exports in pre-war years. Exporters are bewailing the 'loss' in trade as shown by the statistics computed in dollars by the Government but are those same exporters taking into consideration the fact that prices have dropped considerably in practically every line?"

The association asserts that Latin American and the Far East are two of the best markets for American manufacturers, and point out that the drop in prices caught these two sections of the world with warehouses full of goods and a falling exchange market. Buyers naturally stopped making purchases and since that time a process of gradual liquidation has been taking place; as the goods of each kind stored up abroad are used in the country comes back into the market for that particular article. The association calculates that a comparatively short time will see the liquidation and consumption of a great deal of the merchandise stored abroad, and the same length of time should therefore see the gradual resumption of trade. Already so many of the foreign houses have quietly resumed buying that some of the largest manufacturers in this country, especially in textiles and associated lines, report that they are sold up until next spring. "Central Europe reports an excellent outlook for American exports of food products, raw materials, copper and cotton."

the market conditions of the last few years return. Export business is fundamentally the same as domestic trade—the only difference is geographical, with the attendant slight difficulties and technicalities. The business man knows that to temporarily 'corner' the market in this country is profitable while it lasts, but uncertain and risky in the long run—a steady, normal business built on good merchandise and trade methods is the one way to work. The same holds good for export trade. The houses that kept their eyes on foreign trade are the ones that are sold up now. Those who turned away with a discouraged and disgusted gesture a year ago are the ones that are still preaching death and disaster as far as our foreign trade is concerned. Added to which may be mentioned the Democrats and free traders.

The statements of the association are borne out by the official figures of the Department of Commerce, which finds that for 1921 the per cent of increase in total export value on 100 selected classes of commodities exported, comprising about two-thirds of the total value of domestic exports, is lower than for 1919 and 1920, notwithstanding that the quantity increase is greater than in any previous year. "This is due to the effect of the steady fall of prices commencing about June, 1920, and continuing through the entire year." Index numbers of the Bureau of Labor Statistics show an average drop of 44 per cent. for all commodities at the end of the fiscal year from the highest peak reached in May, 1920; but for farm products and food, which form a large share (about 40 per cent.) of our exports, the decline amounted to 53 per cent. These facts are reflected in the export figures when read under the dollar sign, but in the quantity columns the showing is highly satisfactory. Prices are falling to something like normal, but we are holding our own pretty well as to export trade.

"MESSAGE OF DEATH."

Declaring it was a message of death when a humming bird lit on her head, Mrs. Polly Ann Walker, of Hazard, Ky., made all preparations for her end. Her friends tried to dissuade her mind of the idea and took her away for a visit. Suddenly she decided to return to her home, was taken ill on the way, and died within a week after she had received the so-called "message."

Bryan Greenlee, proprietor grocery store, 238 West Third street, says: "About two years ago I had an attack of kidney trouble and I suffered a lot from backache. There was a deep seated pain across the center of my back. I was repairing machinery at that time and when doing any kind of stooping work I could hardly straighten up. My kidneys were not acting regularly and in other ways showed signs of disorder. I went to Wood & Son's Drug Store and got a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. ## New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York. — The story about the shoemaker's children going shoeless was always sad enough. But when the law steps in and prevents a tailor from pressing his own clothes, it is almost tragic. Benjamin Minken lives in the rear of his store at 118 Buffalo avenue, Brooklyn. Therefore when he prepared to be all dressed up for church, it was the natural thing for him to carry his own trousers into the front room on Sunday morning and use his good, heavy iron on them. He was arrested for impairing the peace of the day, because it was in his tailor shop that he was doing the work. "Your honor," urged Mr. Minken, "I am so busy pressing other people's clothes six days in the week, that I can't get to my own until Sunday. I didn't know it was against the law for a man to do that. My wife might darn her own stockings on Sunday, mightn't she?" Magistrate Dooley agreed with him that a law against that would be too blue, indeed.

The children in one Fifty-third street block object to this new idea of tearing down back fences and having nice clear spaces for community backyards. The employees of a warehouse in the block play ball every noon, and the youngsters crowd the tops of the adjoining fences to watch for balls that flip to the other side. Fifty cents a week is the individual earnings of a considerable group of them just for that valuable retrieving. Now some community-improvers are out on their away-with-fences crusade and the children are up in arms against this reform that would take away all opportunity for motion picture dissipation. And when reforms hit the pocket-book—beware!

The most sensitive financial institution in the country hardly feels currents of prosperity and money tightness more quickly than do philanthropic institutions. That is the cheering thing about the reports of the Y. W. C. A. finance workers who here in conference from all over the country. They have brought a definite optimism regarding the financial pick-up for which we've all been peering so eagerly into the future. The Y. W. C. A. along with other civic and charitable associations, has felt the recent money tightness in its heart as well as its pocket-book. Girls whose jobs just vanished into the general sea of retrenchment and girls who never had jobs but must get them now because of their fathers and brothers and husbands being out of work have all been turning to the Y. W. C. A. for aid. The Association is helping them to find positions as rapidly as possible and enabling many of them to live decently in the meantime. At the same time, it has been having greater difficulty in obtaining funds with which to carry on even as in normal times. The workers gather here, however, who are mostly secretaries and chairmen of their local branches, are confident now that even though there will still be difficulties ahead, the way is beginning to brighten somewhat and the strain to lighten. The girls won't find work right away, but there is a prospect of more money to help out in the meantime, the workers believe; and when that condition arrives, it is never very long before jobs develop.

The members of the National Arts Club are enjoying the dismay of one of their most city-bred members who recently decided that the real lure of life lay in the suburbs, where one could own his own home and bask in his own front-yard. All his life he had signed apartment leases, paid his rent, and jacked up the janitors when things weren't going right. Finally he acquired the house and the yard. He learned to mow the lawn and replace a burnt-out fuse and lock the cellar door. Then fall approached. He called up the real estate agent the other day to learn when the heat would be turned on. He was shocked to find that it didn't turn, but had to be made from coal that must be shoveled in and ashes shoveled out and drafts adjusted for queer reasons. He asked the neighbors how one gets coal, and now he is struggling between the temptation of Manhattan apartment ads and the desire to prove the heights to which even a New Yorker can reach.

Takla Manna, 12 years old, is finally on her way to New Orleans, after making the entire trip from Syria alone. She lost her credentials and was held forty days at Ellis Island, but she maintained her impassiveness and her determination and lost none of the cheer she felt at the thought of the relatives waiting for her when she should ultimately reach her goal in the southern city.

"Blossom Time" is one of the most interesting light operas which New York has heard in many seasons. The story is built around the life of Franz Schubert, with much of fact included, and the score is written from his songs. Bertram Peacock has the role of Schubert and Miltzi plays the girl who transferred her love from him to his best friend. The music is lovely, of course, and the entire production is of a particularly high standard.

LUCY JEANNE PRICE
VOTING A PRIME DUTY.

Washington, D. C. — We are hearing frequent appeals to the people to perform their duties as citizens. Recently a resident of the state of Virginia wrote to President Harding calling his attention to the fact that in that state in 1918 there were only 50,000 votes cast, while in 1920, with equal suffrage in force, there were 232,000 ballots put in the boxes.

Manifestly there is not such a difference in voting population due to equal suffrage. The only explanation is that either the men had not been voting before and came to the polls in larger numbers or the men continued to stay at home and the increase was made up of women's votes. The total population of Virginia within the voting age shows that there is yet a large proportion not exercising the elective franchise. Commenting upon this President Harding asserted, among other things, that "there is no more important duty for the citizen than that of voting on the one day of the year when his vote means something."

It is important that a man should express his opinions to his fellow citizens on any and perhaps all of the days of the year, but his efforts are but a hollow mockery if he stays at home on election day. The man who complains of the condition of public affairs and then fails to vote, is lacking somewhere in his common sense equipment.

The sentiment expressed by President Harding are the same in effect as those voiced by John T. Adams on the occasion of his taking the chairmanship of the Republican National Committee some time ago, when he remarked, "In a republic like ours politics is the noblest occupation of citizenship and he who withholds himself from its activities is a peace-time slacker."

The same thought was briefly summed up, recently, by President Howard Elliott, of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, who appealed to all citizens to "stand up and be counted."

"It makes little difference which side of a question a man is on—in fact he amounts to little in a representative form of government—unless he goes to the polls on election day to have his opinions recorded and counted."

LLOYD GEORGE EXPECTS GREAT RESULTS FROM PARLEY.

Iverness, Scotland, Oct. 4. — The Prime Minister, Mr. Lloyd George, in a speech here today concerning unemployment deviated in his introduction to refer optimistically to the forthcoming conference in Washington on limitation of armaments, declaring "it will constitute one of those outstanding events which will affect human history for centuries."

The foolish man who built his house on the sand

He gave an example in folly which anybody can understand.

It isn't so easy, however, to sense the mistake of trying to build the body on foods which lack essential nourishment.

Here, again, is a foundation of sand which gives 'way when the test comes.

Many a food that tastes good lacks honesty of nourishment to equal its taste. Thus it tempts the appetite into mistakes that often are costly.

Grape-Nuts is a food which helps build bodily endurance for life's stress and storm. The full nourishment of wheat and malted barley, together with the vital mineral salts so necessary to bone structure and red blood corpuscles, with phosphates for the brain, is retained in Grape-Nuts. The long baking process by which Grape-Nuts is made gives the food a natural sweetness and an unusual ease of digestibility and assimilation.

Served with cream or milk, Grape-Nuts is fully nourishing, and whether eaten as a cereal at breakfast or lunch, or made into a pudding for dinner, Grape-Nuts has a particular delight for the appetite. Sold by grocers.

Ampt, was married to Mr. George Fitzgerald of Maysville, Ky., nephew of Judge M. L. Harrison, of Covington.

Miss Corrine Thrasher, Miss Eloise Brown and Miss Anne Knight were bridesmaids. Mrs. Donald Ellinwood of Cleveland, a recent bride, was maid of honor. Mr. James Threlkeld, of Maysville, was the best man. Dr. Jerome Zeigles of Maysville, was also a member of the wedding party.

PROGRAM BY MISSIONARY CIRCLE

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Christian church held the regular monthly meeting in the auditorium of the church, Wednesday evening. The president, Mrs. L. H. Young, was in the chair and after the business period the Circle under the leadership of Miss Mary Eunice Knox presented an interesting program. The devotional was led by Miss Marie Webster, followed by a circle of prayers, in which many took part. "Long, Long Ago," was sung sweetly by Misses Mary Eunice Knox, Ethel Lee Griffin, Anyo Laugh and Marie Webster, with Mrs. Claude Watkins at the piano. Miss Elizabeth Houghton read in an attractive manner a letter of Bert Wilson, "The Tiger Story at Sea." The missionary play, "How Esther Crosby Taught Missions" was very much enjoyed. Miss Alma Nower rendered in a very pleasing way her part of converting her grandmother to missions. The following members of the Circle played well their parts: Misses Katie Hughes, Marie Houghton, Betsy Lunaster, Anyo Laugh, Ethel Griffin, Alma Ann, Anna Ann, Laura Farrow, Dorothy Knox, Hattie Selsor, Sadie Prather, Austin Fleming and Mrs. Wm. Sammons. The meeting closed by the Circle benediction.

Tokio, Oct. 6.—The condition of Emperor Yoshihito, whose illness has been causing alarm in Japan, is worse, says an official statement. At the Imperial household it is explained that the emperor's physical and mental condition has become aggravated. The difficulty he has experienced in walking and holding conversation has been augmented, while his memory and capacity for attention have declined. There are signs that he has been suffering from a severe disease of the brain, and it is recalled that in his infancy he was seriously ill, his malady recurring after he attained his majority. Since the coronation he has gradually weakened in mind and body.

INTERESTING MEETING.

The meeting of the First District P. T. A. Wednesday afternoon was one of the most interesting and enthusiastic ever held in that association. The dramatization of "Little Bo-Peep" given by the pupils of the First grade was excellent. Little Ann Shanahan as "Bo-Peep" was most charming, and Little Miss Margaret January as "Little Miss Muffet," Charles Calvert, Jr., as "Humpty Dumpty," and Charles Easton as "Little Jack Horner," also made quite a hit. Following this the officers for the new year were elected. Mrs. Jane Leo Moses was chosen President; Mrs. R. G. Knox, Vice President; and Miss Virginia Mae Hurd, Secretary and Treasurer. Then it was decided to have a "Grocery Shower" for the benefit of the Penny Lunch on the evening of October 28. The votes were taken for the prize for this month, a cash prize of $2.50 to be spent by the room for anything needed, and was awarded to Miss Hurd's room, they having the most mothers and friends present at the meeting. This was by far one of the best meetings in the history of this association and under the leadership of Mrs. Moses as President bids fair to become a very live organization during this year. Twenty-five new members were enrolled and all seemed very enthusiastic about the work. It is hoped that many more who were unable to attend Wednesday will be present at the next meeting in November.

This week's issue of The Tiltboard, theatrical weekly published in Cincinnati, contained a good picture of the Kentucky Cardinal Band.

KENTUCKY GIRL WRITES LETTER

How She Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sunnyside, Ky., "I suffered for more than two years with my back and nervousness, and was not able to help my mother do the housework. I took treatment from two doctors and they did not do me any good. Mother saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the paper and I took about ten bottles. It has done me a great deal of good. I weigh 138 pounds and am in good health. I will gladly recommend Vegetable Compound to anyone who suffers with the troubles which I had, and you are welcome to publish my testimonial."—VELMER HENDRICK, Route 1, Sunnyside, Ky.

To many American girls life is often a heavy drag in consequence of illness, and every mother should heed the first manifestations, such as cramps, backaches, headaches and nervousness as Mrs. Hendrick did for her daughter, and give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial. For over forty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been relieving women of just such troubles.
